25th Sunday B.

THE KIND OF PERSON ONE IS.

There is something more important than the job, namely the kind of human being behind the job. The mistake the apostles made was to put the job, and the position, first. In their eyes, the greatest among them was the one who had the highest position. They obviously thought Jesus would set up an earthly kingdom, and so each wanted to get a top position in his kingdom.

But Jesus told them that his Kingdom was not about seeking honour and glory for oneself, but about serving others. If they were prepared to serve others, then by all means they could have a top place in his Kingdom, but they would not be sitting on high chairs or soft seats. They were more likely to be down on their knees with a basin of water in one hand and a towel in the other, washing the feet of the little ones (the weakest members of the community).

It is not what I do, but what I am that is important. One's self-worth should not depend on the work one does. It is possible to possess an attitude of self-worth and accomplishment, regardless of what one does for a living. There is a lot of talk nowadays about self-esteem. And rightly so because it is a pretty basic thing, but if we want to feel proud of ourselves, we've got to do things we can be proud of. Feelings follow action. What might those kind of things be? Jesus tells us what they are. They are deeds of love and service. He set the example himself. He gave his life in the service of others. No one can go higher than that. He is the greatest in the Kingdom.

For a Synodal Church: Communion, Participation and Mission

Pope Francis has called a Synod of Bishops to meet in Rome in 2023. The topic will be "For a Synodal Church: Communion, Participation and Mission." The Holy Father asks that the whole people of God take part in this Synod by meeting together in parishes to pray, discuss and reflect on the topic in order to discern how the Holy Spirit is prompting the Church to go forward.

Bishop Toal will mark the beginning of this synodal process with the celebration of Mass in Motherwell Cathedral on Sunday 17th October at 3pm. Please make a note of this in your diary and take part in this important diocesan event."
